HUNDREDS MORE.

Added to the List of Gen. Slocum Victims.

Nearly 900 Bodies So Far Recovered and 300 More Still Missing.

New York, June 21.—Evidence of a startling nature, which doubtless will have an important bearing on the result of the coroner's inquiry into the Gen. Slocum disaster, was forthcoming at the inquest today.

Perhaps the most unexpected incident was the continued refusal to answer questions of Henry Lundberg, a United States Steamboat Inspector, who was supposed to have inspected the life preservers and the hull of the ill-fated steamer. His refusal was based on the ground that an answer might tend to criminate him, and he acted on the advice of his counsel.

The coroner committed Lundberg to the House of Detention, but later accepted $500 bail for his appearance at the hearing tomorrow, which was satisfactory to the Assistant District Attorney.

By the use of dynamite and heavy guns fired by men from the Second battery scores of bodies were brought up from the bottom around the shores near North Brother Island today.

The searching along the beach and in boats gathered in 112, bringing the number of bodies recovered up to date up to the appalling total of 845.

Three Hundred Still Missing.

Of these 700 have been identified, and the missing still are approximately at something more than 300. Many of the bodies last found never will be identified because of changes that have taken place during the week they have been under water.

The harvest of victims who lost their lives in the Gen. Slocum disaster continued today. All through the night, despite the terrific electrical storm that swept over the city, the searchers held to their gruesome work, and early today the total number of bodies recovered had reached more than 800, and it was expected that every hour during the day would add to the number.

It was hoped that identification would materially reduce the large list of missing before night. An alarming result of the developments of the last three or four days has been that, although more than 200 bodies have been taken from the river, the list of missing has remained almost unchanged. Today when the total list of bodies recovered is 845, the list of missing continued well in excess of 300.

Thirty-Seven More Bodies.

New York, June 22.—Bodies of victims continue to be found in the waters adjacent to the scene of the disaster. To-day thirty-seven came to the surface, making the total number recovered 882. Of these 778 have been identified. Despite the fact that the police are bending every energy toward getting a complete list of those who went on the ill-fated excursion, definite figures as to the number of missing cannot be given. From present indications, however, it is apparent that the death toll will total nearly 1,000.

To-morrow nearly 100 policemen who speak German will begin a house-to-house canvass for the purpose of verifying the list of the missing.

JUNE 21

Was The Longest Day In the Year

Slowly but surely for the last three months, the direct rays of the sun have been moving northward but Tuesday the highest latitude to which these direct rays ever approach was reached as they fell directly upon the tropic of cancer. The sun rose at 4:44 o'clock and set at 7:19 o'clock, thus making the day 14 hours and 35 minutes long and the night 9 hours and 25 minutes.

TAME AFFAIR

Was the Republican Convention Nominating Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

Platform Recommends Interference With Elective Franchise In Southern States.

Chicago, June 22.—The Republican National Convention was called to order for the transaction of the business of the second day at 12:25 p. m., by temporary chairman Root. It took three or four minutes for the convention to become quiet when the chairman introduced Rev. Father Thomas E. Cox, of Chicago, who offered prayer, asking for the Divine protection of the country and control of the delegates in their deliberations.

The attendance at the convention was a little larger than on the previous day, but there was none of the exciting clamor for admission that usually prevails on such occasions, this being due to the necessary lack of excitement in the convention, where the outcome of everything was known beforehand.

Hitt Withdrawn.

Senator Cullom created a mild sensation by announcing that the name of Hon. R. R. Hitt would not be presented to the convention as a candidate for Vice-President. This made the nomination of Fairbanks by acclamation a certainty.

Stalwarts Seated.

The principal contest to be decided by the committee on credentials was the fight between the regulars and the stalwarts from Wisconsin. The sub-committee of the committee on credentials heard the arguments on both sides and reported in favor of the Spooner delegation and against the LoFollette crowd. The committee on credentials accepted the report, and when the general report was made to the convention it was adopted without a dissenting voice. The report of the committee on credentials was then adopted as a whole.

Permanently Organized.

Chairman Johnson, of the committee on organization, reported the name of Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, of Illinois, as permanent chairman. The report was adopted with great enthusiasm. Chairman Cannon was escorted to the chair and introduced by Temporary Chairman Root.

The Platform.

The committee on resolutions presented the platform, which was adopted amid much enthusiasm.

Much of the platform is devoted to a resume of what the Republican party has accomplished—the freeing of Cuba, the suppression of insurrection in the Philippines and the securing of the route and providing for the building of the Panama canal being dwelt on at some length. The tariff part of the platform insists on the maintenance of the principles of protection and therefore the rates of duty should be readjusted from time to time, but only when changed conditions and public interest demanded alteration. "This work, however, cannot safely be left to any other hands than those of the Republican party."

The upholding of the gold standard is declared to be the duty of the Republican party.

Legislation which tends to the up-building of an American merchant marine is demanded.

It is asserted that a navy powerful enough to defend the country against any attack is a necessity, and the party pledges itself to the creation of such a navy.

It is the purpose of the Republican party to uphold the Monroe doctrine.

It is declared that the enforcement of the civil service law is essential to the proper administration of the government.

The peaceful settlement of international difficulties by arbitration is favored.

ministration to protect American citizens in foreign lands is commended.

It is recommended that Congress take action to discover whether by special discrimination in State statutes the elective franchise is unconstitutionally denied to any class of voters.

Committee Announced.

After the adoption of the platform the names of the new national committeemen were announced.

The First Roll Call.

The first roll call of the convention was on the motion to allow Hawaii six votes instead of two. This unexpected delay did not please the convention, which was anxious for action on more important subjects.

Nomination Delayed.

The nomination of President

Roosevelt was delayed by the convention over the question of admitting the delegates from Hawaii. The convention adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow.

The Ticket Named.

Chicago, June 23.—The convention reconvened this morning at 10 o'clock and candidates were formally presented. Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, was nominated for President, receiving the votes of every state.

Senator Chas. W. Fairbanks, of Indiana, was nominated for Vice-President at 2:08 p. m., by acclamation, all other candidates having withdrawn.

LAFAYETTE NEWS.

R. W. Brandon Qualifies as Administrator—Other Items.

Lafayette, Ky., June 21.—Messrs. Jasper Fuqua and Harry Thacker, after a two weeks' visit here among relatives and friends, left this morning for their home in Dallas, Texas, accompanied by Miss Julia Purcell, who expects to spend several months in Dallas with her brother, Mr. Walter Purcell. Mr. Irwin Frasier, who came home from Denison, Texas, with the boys, could not be induced to return so soon, as he has more to "win" by prolonging his visit than they.

R. W. Brandon qualified yesterday as administrator of his father's estate. Mrs. C. E. Brandon as guardian for her son, Carter, C.

DEATH WAS SUDDEN.

Prominent Citizen Passes Away at Pleasant View.

Mr. Wiley J. Gossett, father of Mr. J. E. Gossett, the Julien merchant, died suddenly last Sunday afternoon at his home in Pleasant View, Tenn. The deceased had been a prosperous farmer for many years and was a prominent citizen. He had been in bad health for a year or more, but was able to be up nearly all of the time. Death was due to heart disease. He was in his 87th year and is survived by a widow and three children.

His son at Julien attended the funeral which took place Tuesday.

CROFTON CONTEST.

Old Time Fiddlers Will Again Meet in Concert.

Preparations are being made to hold another Old Time Fiddlers' contest at Crofton early in July. The exact date has not yet been decided upon. When the first contest was held at that place a rainy night was encountered and many from the country who intended being present were prevented from attending on account of the muddy roads.
